Some one took possession of Claude W. Gilliam's car last Saturday evening, between five and seven o'clock and drove it away from its parking place on Bandera Avenue without being noticed or detected. Mr. Gilliam parked his car about five o'clock in front of Jennings' Tailor shop. At seven o'clock when he went back after it the car was gone. Officers were notified and a hurry up search made without avail. Later on in the night, the car was found parked in front of the Hondo Mercantile Co. store, none the worse for wear and with the speedometer showing that it had been run sixteen miles. Mr. Gilliam says he is "much obliged" to the parties for bringing it back, but hopes that the next time they want to borrow it they will do him the courtesy of asking for it.

AMONG THE DRILLERS.

WESTERN GAS IS DRILLING AT 1,001.

Western Gas and Fuel Company's No. 1 Adams, in Medina County, at 1,001 feet Monday night was dry. It had expected to pick up gas production at about 960 feet. It was drilling Tuesday and some additional information was expected on the well by Tuesday night. The well is 1,000 varas northeast of the Henderson and Holden Adams No. 3, which is the most northerly of the four gas wells completed in the field.

The Witherspoon well, which is getting started, is about 1,400 varas east and a little north of the No. 3 Adams of Henderson and Holden, and Golden West is starting a well 600 varas north and a very little east of the No. 3 Adams. Western Gas and Fuel Company's well had a chance yet Tuesday of going into some production of some kind and was expected to pick up salt water before the end of the day Tuesday if it didn't get gas or oil.

Reports from Medina County Tuesday were that Johnson and others (Medina Oil Company) had completed a big well in the No. 8 Taylor and that it pumped 87 barrels in 14 hours. The well is a little southwest of the discovery well. One test was drilled 300 feet to the southwest of the No. 1 or discovery well and was lost. The No. 8 is about 50 feet east of it and hit the pay at about 70 feet shallower depth than the No. 1, which hit it at 355 feet. Tests were drilled all around the discovery well and failed to pick up anything but small production, until the No. 8 was drilled.

Finnell and others have not finished setting the casing in their well off to the west of survey 115, but the amount of the sand penetrated and the showings of oil, it is claimed, indicated a good shallow well.

Arnett Oil Company is bailing its No. 4 Nixon. It is bailed every morning and is allowed to set till the next morning and considerable mud is still being bailed. It will be a few days before the final results are known.—Wednesday's Express.

Western Gas and Fuel Company's well in Medina County on the Adams tract is having a showing of oil at around 1,021 feet. It is a little northeast of the nearest gas well of Henderson and Holden and about the same depth. The test has not been finished. The amount of oil leads some to believe it could make a commercial well, but the formation is caving considerably and a string of smaller casing may be run before finally completing the test.—Friday's Express.

ANOTHER GOOD PRODUCER.

The Medina Oil Co., Peter Johnson, Manager, brought in another good producer out on the Ray Taylor farm the first of the week.

The well is known as Taylor No. 8. It is located 580 feet west of No. 1, and was brought in at the remarkably shallow depth of 283 feet. It was put under pump at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon and the first twenty-four hours showed a production of 130 barrels. The second day gauged a production of 83 1/2 barrels.

This test puts No. 8 in a class better than the discovery well which was brought in at a depth of some 70 feet greater than No. 8 and produced 100 barrels per day under test.

from the Devine News.

P. B. Galbreath Dead.

The news has received the following letter from City Marshal J. W. Galbreath of Robstown:

We have just returned from Austin, where we buried our father yesterday. He died Tuesday night in Austin. He was a friend to all the Duboses and I am sure you will hate to hear of our sorrow.

The letter was dated Sept. 24th. Mr. P. B. Galbreath lived in this county for many years and served in many capacities as a peace officer, helping to put down lawlessness and establish order soon after the Indians left here. He at one time made the race for sheriff and lacked only one or two votes being elected. Our family sympathizes with his children in their loss of a good father and the country of a good citizen.

LUTZ—KEMPF.

The St. Joseph's Catholic Church at Devine was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Tuesday morning, Sept. 28, 1926, which united Ervin Joseph Lutz, Sr., of D'Hanis, Texas, your English hymn books to this and Miss Dora Josephine Kempf, of Devine, Texas. The ceremony was beautifully conducted by Rev. Father Goertz of that church.

The bride was lovely, dressed in white satin, trimmed in Spanish silk lace, and wreath and veil, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The maid of honor, Miss Lenora Kempf, a cousin of the bride, was dressed in yellow silk crepe. Bridesmaids, Miss Alma Kempf, sister of the bride, was dressed in blue silk crepe, Miss Alma Neatherlin was dressed in green silk crepe and Miss Martha Fillingier in pink silk crepe, all carrying bouquets of lilies. The ring bearer, Ethel Lutz, was dressed in light pink crepe and the flower girls, Elizabeth Jungman and Mel-verda Poerner, in light blue silk crepe beautifully carried out the rainbow colors.

The groom wore a suit of midnight blue serge. The best man, Frank Lutz, brother of the groom, and groomsmen, Messrs. Paul Lindsey, Edward Kempf, and Willie Lutz were all dressed in serge.

After the ceremony all repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a sumptuous dinner and supper was served. At night all joined in dancing in the spacious living room until a late hour, after which Mr. and Mrs. Lutz left on their honeymoon trip to San Antonio, Corpus Christi and other points, after which they will make their home a few miles north of D'Hanis.

They were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents. Mr. Lutz, an upright young man, is congratulated in winning so charmingly a life-mate.

The entire community extends congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy married life.

WORLD'S ONLY FIVE RING CIRCUS COMING.

Rumor Now Confirmed. Biggest Circus, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Headed This Way.

Yoo-hoo! Skinnay! Lookit, lookit!

World's first and only five ring circus coming this way! A hundred double-length railroad cars loaded with the ten thousand wonders of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows that will give performances at San Antonio, Oct. 15.

Never has there been more than three rings in the past. Now the famous brother showmen have fixed it so folks at the ends of the tent can see just as much as those who sit near the middle. Imagine five big circus rings in a row with stages set in between. That means that five big companies of performing horses, twenty-four in a group, are presented at one time. The same is true with the elephant actors—five herds all performing stunts at one time.

Big acts are the rule in the great new circus of 1926. Aside from the five troupes of liberty horses, two hundred others, each ridden by an expert in costume execute drills and splendid maneuvers on the mammoth hippodrome track. Thirty additional ones are of the high-school type, while a score of superb thoroughbreds leap hurdles and barriers of record height. The number of trained horses alone carried for this season's program reaches the astounding total of three hundred and fifty.

The equines but share honors in the twenty-two displays. In addition to them are the eight hundred aerialists, bareback champions, gymnasts and high-wire artists. These embrace the world's foremost men and women stars including a host of recently imported foreign features. Some of these number families of nine, eleven and fifteen in an act. A hundred of the world's funniest clowns enliven the more than two hours of circus program. The tournament is the most dazzling yet devised. The menagerie has been increased to more than a thousand rare animals. The tent which houses them is almost as large as the big-top of other seasons. The 1926 main-tent seats over 15,000 people.

A Word With the Old Folks

Elderly People Are Learning Importance of Good Elimination.

IN the later years of life there is apt to be a slowing up of the bodily functions. Good elimination, however, is just as essential to the old as to the young. Many old folks have learned the value of Doan's Pills when a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys is required. Scanty or burning passages of kidney secretions are often signs of improper kidney function. In most every community are scores of users and endorsers who acclaim the merit of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

HERE IS A MAN'S JOB.

A man's job is his best friend. It clothes and feeds his wife and children, pays the rent and supplies them with the wherewithal to develop and become cultivated. The least a man can do in return is to love his job. A man's job is grateful. It is like a garden that thrives on love. It will one day flower into fruit worth while, for him and his to enjoy. If you ask any successful man the reason for his making good, he will tell you it is because he likes his work; indeed, he loves it. His whole heart and soul are wrapped up in it. His whole physical and mental energies are focused on it. He walks his work, he talks his work; he is entirely inseparable from his work, and that is the way every man worth his salt ought to be if he wants to make his work what it should be, and make of himself what he wants to be. —Senator Arthur Capper.

Headache dizziness

"I HAVE headache once in a while, usually coming from constipation or torpid liver," says Mr. L. A. Morphis, of Pottsville, Ark., "and the very best remedy I have found to correct this condition is Thedford's Black-Draught. It acts quickly and easily, and it just can't be beat."

"Black-Draught is the very best laxative I have found. I always feel so much better after taking it. My wife takes Black-Draught, too. For dizziness, costiveness and any little stomach disorder, we find it most satisfactory, and consider Black-Draught a family medicine."

Constipation, with an inactive liver, locks up poisons in the body and allows them to do their dangerous work.

Being purely vegetable and containing no harmful drugs, Black-Draught acts gently, helping the system get rid of impurities and preventing serious sickness. Get a package today. Sold everywhere. 25 cents.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. 60c.

BAREFOOT BURGLARS.

The town was thrown into considerable excitement Tuesday morning by the discovery that an unwelcome visitor had been in town the night before.

Some six or eight houses are known to have been visited, but at the homes of W. N. Saathoff, where they stole a watch and some change, and Feix Batot and L. E. Heath their chief hauls were made, Messrs. Heath and Batot both losing several dollars of pocket change. After breaking the crystal on Mr. Heath's watch and otherwise damaging it, they threw it away. At each of these homes, entrance was forced through screened doors and the bed rooms of the victims boldly entered, their clothing carried away, the pockets rifled and the garments thrown away on the outside.

Where the culprit entered Mr. Saathoff's residence he (or she) stepped on a newly painted door step and left the imprint of a foot small enough for a child's or a woman's. Save these footprints, no clues were left behind and at this writing it seems that they (for one person could scarcely have been so active in the limited time they had to operate) have made a complete get-away.

It is reported that Sabinal was visited in the same manner on the same night, giving credence to the belief that the burglars are a flock of birds of passage.

MARRIED.

Miss Alice Batot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Batot of this place, and Mr. John H. Fisher of Schertz, Texas, were happily married in San Antonio, Monday, September 27, 1926.

Mr. Fisher is a young business man and farmer of Schertz. He is to be congratulated on winning so charming a helpmate as Miss Alice. They will make their future home at Schertz.

This paper joins in congratulations and best wishes for the happy pair.

FORTY-TWO CLUB.

"This way, ladies and gentlemen, to the big show. Peanuts—popcorn—funny clowns—wild animals—n'everything!"

Such was the feature of the Circus Day party at which Mesdames Ed. Cameron, F. S. Cockrell and Fletcher Davis entertained the "42 club" Thursday afternoon.

The guests were met by the hostesses under festoons of gay red and yellow crepe streamers, and a table placed at the entrance decorated in the same colors, on which a parade of clowns, wild animals and other circus features was staged, assured the guests they were in for a real circus good time. They found partners by matching lurid colored pictures of menagerie animals, and so monkeys and hippopotami, squirrels and lions, elephants and tigers assembled for the games. Miss Heath won the first "84" bid and seized one of the trophies for such winners, a big horn, and blew a noisy blast. Other "84" winners were crowned in caps of red and yellow snap favors or blue merry-go-round whistles. Red and yellow balloons bobbing about and bursting lent further atmosphere.

At the close of the playing Mrs. Batot was consoled for low score with a toy elephant and Mrs. O. H. Miller and Mrs. Oscar Schuehle were awarded a toy lion and camel, respectively, for high score.

The guests repaired to "Carle's" where a long table was placed under festoons of red and yellow and decorated in red and yellow streamers, with an assortment of popcorn, peanuts, and a long circus parade. The guests found their places by animal cards and were served a salad course of apricots and cherries, saltines, "red lemonade", and favors of red and yellow cages of wild animal design filled with popcorn. The napkins, too, were red and yellow crepe paper. The clowns with their bucking mules were wound up and scurried up and down the length of the table to contribute to the merriment.

The guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Theo. Barnes, Mrs. T. B. Knopp, Mrs. E. J. Murray, Mrs. Roy Carter, Miss Katherine Keller, Miss Lena Stone and Miss Octavia Davis. The members present were Mesdames Laura Welhausen, Aug. Schroeder, F. H. Schweers, Oscar Schuehle, Walter Rothe, P. Jungman, O. H. Miller, L. E. Heath, L. J. Brucks, Earl Boon, Felix Batot, Horace Bradley, Misses Lucille de Montel, Bess and Lillian Brucks, Lorraine Heath and the hostesses.

The hostesses for the next meeting will be Mrs. P. Jungman, Mrs. L. E. Heath and Miss Lorraine Heath.

MISS VAN FLEET HONORED.

A very interesting and entertaining event was the kitchen given by Miss Clara Filleman at her home Friday evening, honoring Miss Altha Van Fleet, a bride of the week.

After the guests had assembled, little Miss Patricia Ney, dressed in blue overalls and wearing a big straw hat, led the honoree to a chair, over which a pink shaded floor lamp cast a roseate hue, and presented her with a rake with which she was instructed to rake away the hay from the hay stack. Numerous knobby, vari-shaped packages were revealed which, when opened, proved to be articles for use in the bride's kitchen.

After expressing her appreciation to the assembled guests for the many gifts, the honoree was presented with a bride's "bouquet" by little Miss Patricia Ney. The bouquet proved to be clothes pins fastened to stems and these mingled with fern and tied with white ribbon.

Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips and iced tea were served to the following: Mesdames Fritz De Grodt, L. J. Brucks, T. B. Knopp, Clarence Van Fleet, Tom Holloway, L. J. Van Fleet, Geo. Carle, Bennie Oeffinger, Bill Ney, Vernon King, Will McClaugherty, Elmer Leinweber, Bill Windrow, Henry Merriman, W. H. Smith, W. T. Crow, Laura Welhausen, Bessie Ney, Ray Jennings, Felix Richter, Ed. Ney, Charles Filleman; Misses Rosalie Koch, Lillian, Bess and Josephine Brucks, Velma King, Ina King, Lorraine Heath, Madeline Droicourt, Evelyn Finger, Louise Griffiths, Jerry Fusselman, Dee Crow, Octavia Davis, Irma Haegelin, Edrin Goode, the honoree, Altha Van Fleet, and the hostess, Miss Clara Filleman.

LIPPOLD-VAN FLEET.

Mr. Melliff Lippold and Miss Altha Van Fleet were happily married Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, Rev. Ezell, pastor of the Methodist Church performing the ceremony.

The bride is the winsome elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Van Fleet and for several years has been a very popular employee in the dry goods department of the Leinweber Company store and through her kindness and courtesy has endeared herself to the entire community.

The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lippold and is connected with the Highway Garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lippold left immediately after the ceremony for a short honeymoon trip to Corpus Christi.

PEACOCK SCORES ON 60-YARD RUN.

Encountering unexpectedly stiff opposition, the Peacock Military Academy barely eked out a 7 to 0 victory over the scrappy Hondo High school eleven in their opening game of the season in Block Stadium, Saturday afternoon. A pass, Bennett to McMillan, and a subsequent 60-yard run by the latter brought victory to Coach Cannon's crew in their initial gridiron tilt in the final period of battle with a scoreless tie on the offing.

Hondo fought hard and succeeded in holding the much heavier Peacock team for three quarters of the play, with most of the battle in the locals' territory due largely to numerous fumbles by the Peacock grid-ers.

Just prior to the winning pass, Hondo attempted a field goal but failed and the ball was put into play on Peacock's 20-yard line. A buck gained five yards for the locals in the first down, but they were penalized this same distance for off-sides on the second play, after which quarterback Curry elected to pass, with the results, as stated. McMillan made a great catch and a wonderful print over the remaining distance, to score the winning touchdown.

FROM THE BANDERA NEW ERA.

Mrs. Theresa Spittle, aged 72 years, residing near Medina Lake, underwent an operation for appendicitis at a San Antonio hospital on Wednesday of last week.

That beautiful black eye Col. J. A. Head is wearing is the result of a fall sustained one day last week, when his foot became entangled in a lot of loose wire, as he was walking across his yard. He was thrown heavily to the ground and besides the black eye he received several painful bruises about the face.

Visit To Bat Cave.

W. D. Smithers and N. H. Rose the San Antonio photographers came up Sunday and accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hunter, Marvin Hunter, Jr., Forest Irving, Howard Eckhart and Miss Rachel Hunter, went to visit the Bat Cave on West Verde Creek, some twelve miles from Bandera. This great cave is truly a wonder it being located at the top of a hill and gradually sloping down to a depth of several hundred feet underground. Mr. Smithers penetrated the cavernous depths and secured some flashlight photos. Millions of bats roost in this cave, and guano covers the floors to the depth of almost a foot. For years the guano has been taken out and shipped to market by the Ney Brothers, owners of the land on which the cave is located. It is said the guano yield amounts to about twenty-five tons annually, the market value being about $45 per ton. Just below the bat cave, and on property belonging to Ben Gerdes is located the ruins of the old saltpeter works, where during the Civil War period saltpeter was obtained from the guano to be used in the manufacture of gun powder.

After visiting the Bat Cave we spent a short while at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gerdes where we were hospitably entertained. Mr. Gerdes has a nice ranch property on West Verde, which he purchased two years ago, and is comfortably and substantially situated.

HERE'S WHY 1926 CIRCUS IS BIGGEST.

Ringling Bros. Enlarge Greatest Show On Earth to Dedicate Mammoth New York Edifice. A circus so big that it requires two added rings, eight stages, a wider hippodrome track and a 700-foot-long big top to display its marvels is now headed this way. It is the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, to give performances at San Antonio, Oct. 15.

The five rings now used have been made necessary to present the added attractions got together in the spring to celebrate the combined shows first appearance in New York's New Madison Square Garden. This edifice is the biggest ever built for circus purposes. To fittingly dedicate it the Ringling Brothers themselves spent months in Europe mobilizing the biggest circus in history. This same show that for weeks entertained New York's millions is now on tour over canvas.

The tournament is as brilliant as in the past but has been enlarged by the addition of such novelties as zebras and llamas broken to harness and hitched to gem-studded floats. Wee baby elephants ride at the tops of allegorical cars. The menagerie of more than a thousand animals embraces such features as thirteen elephant youngsters with the smallest stationed side by side with the biggest pachyderms in captivity. Another importation is the largest and handsomest tiger of which there is record.

Performing horse acts are now presented in quintet—a troupe in each of the five rings. Those elephants who are performers appear in similar formation—five herds at one time. The number of men and women aerialists, bareback riders, gymnasts and high-wire performers has been increased to eight hundred. There are three hundred and fifty trained horses, two hundred of which appear in a single display. One hundred double length cars are required to handle this gigantic amusement enterprise.

If hog cholera breaks out in the neighborhood, farmers whose hogs are not affected should maintain a strict quarantine against the infected herds. It is important that they refrain from visiting farms where the diseased hogs are located. They should also insist that their neighbors stay out of their hog lots, since the hog-cholera virus may be carried on the shoes of humans. The infection may be carried from farm to farm by moving animals such as dogs or movable objects such as farm implements. Therefore, the spreading of the disease should be guarded against as far as possible. The most dependable precautionary measure against the disease, however, is immunization of the herd with anti-hog-cholera serum.

OIL LASTS LONGER IN BUICK FOR 1927

Device stops crankcase dilution in new models

It is necessary to completely change the oil in the 1927 Buicks only four times a year, Buick engineers claim. This result is accomplished through the elimination of crankcase dilution. A crankcase ventilator in combination with thermostatic water control removes the water and acid fumes as well as the greater portion of kerosene dilution from the crankcase. This keeps the oil in good condition even in extremely cold weather.

The elimination of oil dilution is one of the greatest problems that has been solved in recent years. It eliminates all the objectionable features of winter driving, such as freezing of the oil pump, frequent oil change, and the formation of acid in the crankcase which is so injurious to all working parts of the engine.

One of the chief products of the explosive mixture in a gasoline engine is water. For every gallon of gasoline burned, a gallon of water is produced in the form of steam, and when starting up a cold engine water and the heavy ends of fuel which are not combustible in a cold engine find their way down past the pistons in the form of vapor. Unless they are removed before condensing, they will mingle with the oil in the form of water, kerosene and acid. That is crankcase dilution.

In the Buick crankcase ventilator, the fan blows air through a funnel past an opening in the crankcase, causing a suction which pulls these vapors from the crankcase. It adds no complications to the engine, however, as there are no moving parts to get out of order or require adjustment.

The thermostatic water control is built into the radiator and blocks the water circulation so that under severe weather conditions the engine will warm up from zero to 120 degrees in less than three minutes. When this temperature is reached the thermostat automatically opens and allows the water to circulate. But it never allows the water to drop below 120 degrees under even the most severe driving conditions, which is above the temperature at which crankcase dilution occurs. It prevents excessive use of the choke and gives a summer operating temperature in a very short period of time.

IT TAKES A HEAP O' LOVIN' (To Keep a Man at Home.)

By Lacy Richardson.

It takes a heap o' lovin' To keep a man at home, When he feels a little lonely And his heart desires to roam; When the Great White Way is calling And 'tis there he longs to be, It takes a heap o' kindness —You just try and see!

A kindly tear o' pleading Or perhaps a smile o' cheer, When the golden sun is falling And the hush of night is near; When the evening star is shining As he stands so bare and 'lone, It takes a heap o' lovin' To keep a man at home.

The tender touch of baby Or a virtuous wife's care, With a hand of gentle fingers Moving softly through his hair; Not wistful eyes of yearning When to paths of life he's gone, For it takes a heap o' lovin' To keep a man at home.

Let misfortune meet his loved one, 'Twill restore his manly pride, Then behold his sad bereaving He is ever by thy side; Why thy sympathetic patience Soon the shades of night are gone, But it takes a heap o' lovin' To keep a man at home!

MAN'S ACHIEVEMENTS.

Man differs from lower forms of animals largely in that he is able to reason and control his impulses to some extent. There is no doubt that one who allows himself to satisfy every desire, follow every impulse, weakens his power of resistance and he soon finds himself going swiftly down the road to degeneration. It seems at times as if it would be wonderful to create a Utopia, or place where every wish is fulfilled, every desire satisfied. And yet it is doubtful if those things denied us, those things that seem so desirable because they are denied, would not lose their glamor if obtained. The pauper wishes for money to be able to satisfy his appetite, some millionaires would give their money for healthy appetite. One often derides the fact that he is destined to struggle to overcome difficulties, such as lack of finance, disease, etc., in order to exist, but still is forced to admit that if existence were too easily obtained, life would indeed become monotonous.

Man has reached his present status because he has learned to subdue, at least partially, his passions, to strengthen himself by denying himself some of the things that seem desirable, to cope with every difficulty that may be presented. He has learned that through work one finds pleasure and contentment, and that the more energy put into a project the more benefit is obtained from it. It is necessary only to glance back through the pages of history to ascertain that the ones who have realized the most from their short span of life, those whose names are immortal, are not those who accumulated fortunes, not those who for a time were able to control the markets of the world, to build palatial homes, but those who spent their time in striving to accomplish something that would aid in the advancement of humanity, and who left behind them eternal monuments of good deeds and examples of self-sacrifice. As Albert Pike stated: "What we have done for ourselves alone dies with us; what we have done for others and the world remains and is immortal."

In the present age of materialism and commercialism, when the accumulation of fortunes seems to be the consummate desire of a large majority of the people, one may well stop to reason, that finding pleasure in helping others and thinking more often of the welfare of the whole, insures the continued advancement and progress of humanity.—J. Race Champion Picks Buick Brougham

PETER DE PAOLO, adorned with the $3,500 medal which he won as 1925 automobile speedway champion, came to Flint recently to take delivery of a Buick car. DePaolo's new Buick, a 1927 Brougham, is his fourth car of this make in the last two years. In fact, he has never owned any other make. In explaining his preference for Buicks, DePaolo said that the valve-in-head engine, for ordinary driving as well as on the race track, proved superior to any other type. "My Buicks, with their valve-in-head engines and mechanical four wheel brakes, have given me wonderful performance and the best of service," DePaolo stated. "That is the reason why I have never bought any other make of car. Although my previous Buicks have been wonders on the road and have given great satisfaction, I believe the 1927 Buick is truly what the makers say it is, the greatest Buick ever built. It is certainly the greatest car I have ever driven. Acceleration from a creep to 75 miles an hour is literally without vibration. The 1927 Buick sets a new standard of performance for cars of any make, no matter what their price. I was amazed at the marvelous performance of this car, and at the luxury of its fittings and trim." DePaolo, in addition to his championship medal, carries another presented to him personally by Premier Mussolini of Italy which designates him as "Knight of Speed." He is also an honorary member of the Italian Hundred Mile an Hour Club, and wears its emblem, also a present from Mussolini, in his coat lapel. This emblem, DePaolo says, gains instant recognition in Italy for anyone wearing it. DePaolo left Flint for Charlotte, N. C., where he will compete in a race. At present the little Italian driver is in second place for the 1926 championship, pressing Harry Hartz hard for the lead.

until such price is paid him, even to the extent of, like the oil trust, refusing to take any more out of the ground until he is paid a remunerative price, then will harvest-time slumps lose their force, surpluses cease to annoy and the sunshine of prosperity illumine the entire land.

F F F

And the achievement of this desired end imposes an individual duty on every Southern man—an individual duty each must perform and in the performance of which he must realize he is engaged in an undertaking where it is each for all and all for each. What is your part in this great undertaking? That is your individual problem which you must determine for yourself and carry out alone if you are to have any part in the glorious solution. Generally speaking, our farmers must follow a more diversified system of agriculture. In this day of specialists and specialties, let's have more farmers whose specialty is conducting a self-sustaining farm. Bankers and credit merchants must be more liberal in the extension of credit facilities to a diversified agriculture and discourage the one crop system that has so long enslaved us. And capitalists must bring the cotton mills to the cotton fields. It is as absurd and but little less economically wasteful to send our raw cotton to Europe to be spun and woven as it would be to send the seed cotton there to be ginned. Make cotton yarn mills as common in the South as cotton oil mills now are, create thereby a larger market for the fruits, vegetables, poultry, dairy and meat products of our diversified farms and the South's industrial revolution will be a reality before a sunshine of industrial prosperity.

WHY GROW LEGUME CROPS?

To those who claim they cannot afford to grow corn, we wish to offer this suggestion. Since they work their mules less than half the time, they can save large quantities of corn by growing sufficient legume hays, for idle mules will live well on legume hays alone, without any corn, and if they grew sufficient legume hays for a few years they could then make economical crops of corn.—The Progressive Farmer,

FLETCHERIZED FARM FACTS

In Which the Editor Discusses Some Phases of the Cotton Farmers' Market Troubles.

Notwithstanding the cotton crop is not going to yield as much as estimated in previous crop estimate reports, enormous acreage and reasonably favorable weather conditions over most of the cotton belt assures a production somewhat in excess of the world's immediate needs. As a logical consequence, the cotton planter is suffering the inevitable slump in prices that always follows the production of a surplus. This slump coming with the usual harvest season slump is falling doubly hard on the producers, and business in every line throughout the South is feeling the baneful effects.

F F F

The lesson we Southerners seem slowest and least able to learn is that the prosperity of all of us is wrapped up in the fortunes of our cotton crop. A profitable price for cotton means prosperous business for all. Unprofitable prices, prices below a reasonable per cent of profit above the cost of production, means stagnation in business and hard times for all. When we people of the cotton belt realize that we all have a common interest in the profitable production of the South's great staple money crop, and make common cause in an effort to secure the profit to which any productive industry is legitimately entitled, then will prosperity smile perennially on this God-favored Southland, as it should and as nature provides that it may.

F F F

But back to the slump in cotton prices. We spoke of two kinds of market slumps or price depressions. One is the slump that follows overproduction or the supplying of more than the world's needs will consume over a given period under normal conditions. This danger of reaching the saturation point must be avoided by all productive enterprises or financial disaster is inevitable. Manufacturers avoid it by cutting down the number of operators and reducing output. This danger to industry has led to the formation of the gigantic trusts of which we complain at the present day, and such trusts, for instance, the oil trust, avoid the danger of over-supply by leaving the oil in the wells and taking out only so much as the market will absorb at a profit to the operators. As a whole, the industrial world has met the problem of the surplus and reasonably solved it; that the agricultural world has not is evidenced by the slump in cotton prices under which all lines of business in the South suffer today.

F F F

The other slump we called the harvest season slump. This disaster to agriculture recurs as regularly as the return of the harvests. Its severity is minimized but little by the meagerness of the harvest; it may be aggravated by an over-production as is the case with the cotton market today. The cause for the harvest slump is not primarily an over-supply; it is caused from the rush to sell. When the urge to sell is stronger than the desire to buy, sales become drabgy and speculators take advantage of the psychology of the situation to beat down the price in the hope of augmenting their profits later on when they turn their purchases over to consumptive demand. Being largely speculative, it can to a marked degree be overcome by the producer resisting his urge to sell, demanding a reasonable price for his product and holding out for that price. Of course, when such a holding movement comes in contact with an accumulated or even a known surplus it is more than likely to fail; when simultaneous with an aggravated shortage it may lead to a wild stampede of speculation that will boost the price far beyond the bounds of reasonable profit. In either event, the movement is more or less a gamble. And only those able to take the consequences either way can ever afford to gamble on anything.

F F F

Like Grover Cleveland's famous remark, this is a condition—a brutal condition at that—and not a theory which confronts the South in general and the cotton planters in particular today. And like Mark Twain's famous remark about the weather, much has been said but very little done about it. True there have been well-organized and some effective holding movements. And a rather ambitious co-operative method of marketing cotton is still being tried out, but so far nothing of a permanent and substantial nature in the way of correction has been achieved.

F F F

The weakness of all efforts so far to correct this evil under which the Southern Cotton planter labors, seems to have been a failure to visualize the magnitude of the problem

SO THIS IS TEXAS!

Texas is infinite. Like a billion dollars or the distance to the sun it is beyond the comprehension of minds. Nothing in our limited experience will serve as a yardstick to measure Texas. It helps little to recall that the state has some 27,923,000 cultivated acres, 114,021,621 acres in 436,033 farms and that the total land area comprises 167,934,720 acres. You can ride across the state in about the time it takes to travel by fast train from Chicago to Boston, St. Louis to New York or Minneapolis to Denver. Texas is bigger than four of the groupings of states made by the Census Bureau for statistical reporting purposes. But that's old stuff.

What is more significant is the production of Texas. Champions who go abroad and vociferate on the accomplishments, charms and productions of their native states discount Texas because it is so big, but Texas has some a few million more cultivated acres than Illinois and Iowa. The value of its production on those acres runs to a billion dollars a year. Illinois and Iowa with 7 million and 6 million fewer cultivated acres respectively, each produce a little bit more than half the agricultural values of Texas. The addition of other cultivated acres merely awaits demand. The state at present is producing a little less than a tenth of the nation's total crop value. Last year the amount was $1,292,000,000. Production per capita is nearly twice as much as it is for the rest of the United States.

In 1924 Texas produced 9 per cent of the nation's new wealth. Industrially the state steps up with another billion dollar output. That's more or less surprising. At the end of the fiscal year in 1925, the port of Galveston ranked second only to New York in total foreign trade, with about half a billion dollars. Foreign trade for the state's four customs districts during the same period totaled $907,353,000.

To those of you who think of the Lone Star state as a vast expanse of geography, it will be well to remember that there are some 5 million people in the state and that there are half a dozen cities that are crowding the surrounding cultivated area out into the cattle range frontier. Texas is mighty. (Copyrighted By Capper's Farmer.)

and to fully comprehend the fundamental principles basic to the problem. Efforts however well-meant, undertaken under such handicaps are doomed to be at best ephemeral in achievement if not wholly abortive and disappointing.

F F F

Basic principles of profitable production are equally true in cotton growing and in the manufacture, for instance, of automobiles. But in applying those principles the difference in methods of production and the numbers engaged in production must be taken into account. In the same way, the principles of co-operative marketing apply to cotton as to California raisins, but in adapting those principles the difference in magnitude of the product and the numbers and widely scattered units among the producers must be taken into account.

F F F

When this is done, one is all but appalled at the complications of the problem he confronts. Well-meaning statesmen and students of economics thought they had found a solution of the problem when they devised a system of bonded warehouses with a negotiable storage receipt for cotton. But the hundreds of all but empty warehouses over the country has brought a rather belated and expensive realization that so long as cotton is a credit crop the creditor controls the time of sale, all the buyer has to do is to wait for making his purchase until the creditor requires liquidation, and the fixing of the price of cotton is still in the hands of the buyer. Our empty and unused warehouses are thus a monument to another well-meant but mistaken economic failure.

F F F

In the light of what has gone before, it must follow that, despite the best efforts of economists and statesmen, the cotton problem must largely remain an individual problem and if solved at all must be solved along the lines of cash and not credit. In other words, the South, to escape its economic bondage to the uncertain profits of a credit-produced cotton crop, must devise a more general system of farming on an independent scale whereby the Southern farmer can produce cotton as a surplus cash crop. When unharassed by importunate creditors to whom he has mortgaged his independence to produce his cotton, he can roll his cotton bales into his own safe and secure storage house, set such a price on it as will afford a reasonable profit and hold it there
